Dedication

Gary
Monuteaux

Linda
Meredith

Dedicated and versatile are two words that describe the spirit of Mr. Monuteaux. Over the course of his career he went from teaching shop class—showing students how to use a hammer and saber saw—to teaching technology and computer repair. Whether patiently teaching a student how to design a sturdy bridge, assisting an uninitiated fellow teacher in producing a bound copy of new curriculum, producing posters for administration, or hosting a foreign student or chaperoning a school event, Mr. Monuteaux does it with style and a tireless desire to be of service. We thank Mr. Monuteaux for his many years of service to all.

Tom Williams

With great appreciation, the Huttlestonian dedicates this yearbook to a woman who has made an outstanding contribution as an educator, mentor and friend at Fairhaven High School. For the past twenty-six years, Linda Meredith has dedicated herself to her students, fellow special education teachers and supporting staff. She has always treated her students with compassion, respect and understanding. By her dedicated efforts and interest in students as individuals, she has helped to elevate them to their highest potential.

As the coordinator of the Community Service Learning Grant, Linda has contributed to our community both in and out of the classroom. She has organized community events such as the Empty Bowls Project, Walk Against Violence, Canned Food Drives and many other events.

What you may not know about Linda is that she is an avid traveler who enjoys snorkeling and scuba diving around the world. Did you know she loves to sail? Linda and her husband Terry are always ready and willing to try new endeavors, such as fencing, yoga and marksmanship classes to name a few.

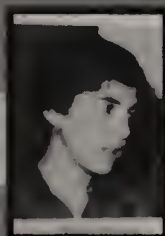

Linda, you will be greatly missed by your students and colleagues.

We wish you health and happiness in retirement. Safe travels!

Naomi
Shaw

"Thou friends, thou hast, and their adoption tried, Crurple them unto thy soul with hoops of steel"

No one has ever been more of a friend to Fairhaven High School than Ms. Naomi Shaw. Over the past 30 years, she has selflessly shared her love for learning, her compassion, her wit, and her integrity with students and faculty of FHS. Touching the lives of so many, Ms. Shaw is an immutable piece of Fairhaven history. With saddened knowledge that an era has ended, we wish her the very best.

Ms. Shaw cherish the memories of this time, yet look ahead to newborn journeys, remembering what you taught us all. "Carpe Diem."

Michelle Stewart

Paul
Fernandes

Paul Fernandes has been part of the Fairhaven School System for the past thirty-five years. After starting his career at Hastings Junior High, Mr. Fernandes joined the faculty of FHS, on which he has served for the past 20 years. This highly respected math teacher has always given of himself, in classes and before and after school. Inspiring many of his former students to pursue careers in math, he has also tirelessly given of his time to those students who need extra help and taught in the summer program. His desire to work with young people has been fulfilled not only in the classroom, but also on the playing field. Always stressing the required hard work and fair play, Mr. Fernandes has coached tennis, golf, baseball and basketball. In his retirement, Mr. Fernandes plans to instill his love of math in his granddaughters by doing daily drills, exercises, and problems with them. This superb teacher will be greatly missed.

To the Graduating Class of 2005,

It is with somewhat of a heavy heart that I say congratulations to you. Since you are my first graduating class, your history is also part of my history. As I see many of you now as vibrant mature young adults waiting to move to new and even richer horizons, I can in many instances, still visualize your first days as unassuming and inquisitive ninth graders.

Much has changed in the world and for you during your stay at FHS. Your experiences during this time and your interactions have shaped you in ways that as of now you fully may not realize. As you reconnect with your classmates and teachers over time, remember this bit of advice that I picked up from the book, What Dogs Teach Us.

"The size of the heart is more important than the size of the body."

Good luck to you and may God be with you.

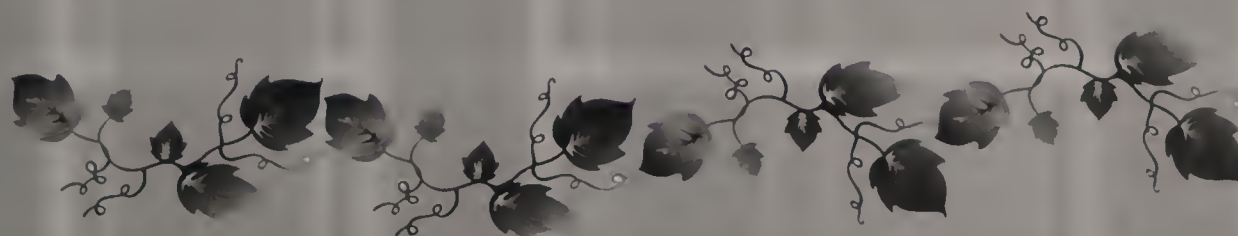

To the Graduating Class of 2005,

It is a pleasure to acknowledge the accomplishments and successes of the Fairhaven High School graduating class of 2005. You have worked tirelessly to define yourselves as individuals who met each challenge with poise, courage, and a strong sense of commitment.

Your strength of character has surfaced in both good times and in those times of difficulty and loss when friendship and caring were the gifts that you gave to one another.

The door to the future is open and awaits your arrival. I wish you great success in all of your future endeavors and wish to leave you with these inspirational words of Eleanor Roosevelt.

"When you have decided what you believe, what you feel must be done, have the courage to stand alone and be counted."

Senior Class Officers

Lily Lovinger, Kayleigh Rock, Melissa Vanasse, Ashley Hebert

President

To the Class of 2005,

Did you ever think we would get here? To our senior year? Our graduation? We have—we've made it. Although this year we will say goodbye to each other, we will all be saying hello to the unknown—our future. Together in our four years at Fairhaven High School, we have had our share of personal "drama," but we have also forged great friendships and created lasting memories, which will remind us of the great years we spent in high school.

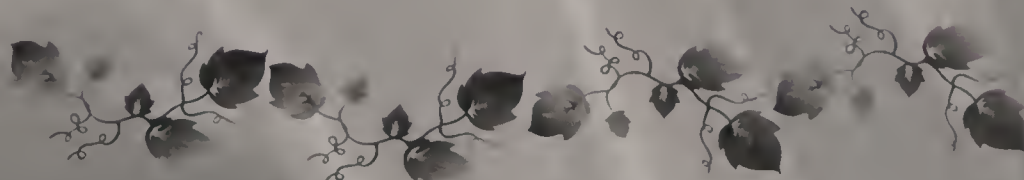

Our memories and experiences at Fairhaven High have not all been pleasant. In our freshman year, just as we were settling in, 9/11 rattled our lives. We will all remember where we were at the moment that those fated planes crashed in New York City, Pennsylvania and Washington, D.C. We've been fortunate to have caring teachers, administrators and staff who supported us during such difficult times and inspired us to do our very best. The lessons, both academic and practical that we have learned here, will aid us in facing obstacles that come our way.

I am truly sad to be leaving this school, which has felt like home, and my friends, who have been like family. However, I am eager to see what my future will hold and know that many of you feel the same. I'm sure that many of us will keep in touch for years to come through "IMing," late-night cell phone calls, email and letters. I hope the friendships we have formed last for a very long time.

Someone once said, "The only time success comes before work is in the dictionary." Cheesy . . . I know. But isn't it true? Nothing beats getting that good grade on a test you spent hours studying for. The principle also applies to the "real world" where achievement doesn't come easily.

I'm looking forward to our fifth . . . tenth . . . thirtieth reunion. I will be eager to find out what the class of 2005 has been doing. I wish all of you the greatest luck.

Your friend,
Lily Lovinger

SPIRIT WEEK

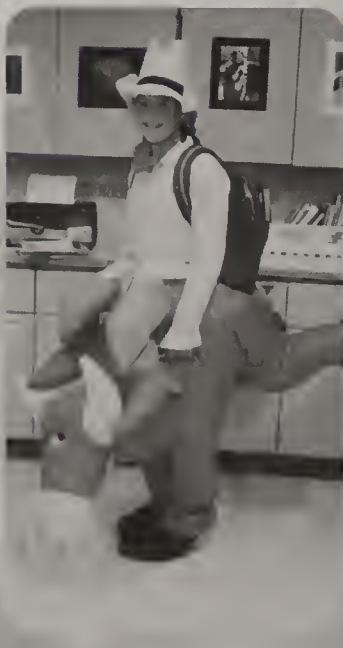

04

MORE SPIRIT

What is Junior Day?

Junior Day is a valued tradition. It is the last official day of school for seniors prior to their graduation. It is a rite of passage for juniors who will be symbolically taking on the roles of leadership once held by seniors. The passing on of the responsibilities of being a "senior" is symbolized in a ceremony wherein the senior class president takes off the mantle of leadership and passes it on to the junior class president.

Seniors wear their graduation regalia. The junior girls traditionally wear white dresses and carry a yellow rose, and the junior boys dress in white shirts and ties.

Talented musicians, one from the junior class and one from the senior class, perform. The seniors sing their class song as well as the traditional graduation song, "The Halls of Ivy." Junior Day recognizes the many major accomplishments of the student body over the year. Through the presentation of awards, trophies, and certificates, students' successes, accomplishments, and contributions are celebrated. Members of the community-at-large come to the festivities to confer awards and accolades upon students who have excelled in academics, athletics, service to their school and/or community.

Me and My Girl

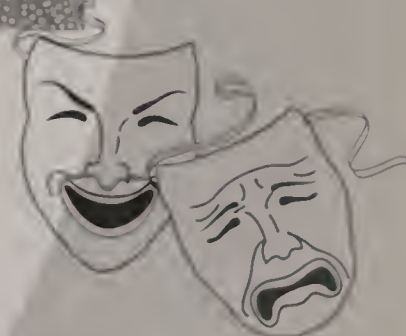

"LAMBETH WALK"

"This is one of those upbeat musical theater moments in which the leads draw everyone into a buoyant and varied celebration of the joys of movement."

Everything changes suddenly for a happy-go lucky cockney man who learns that he's the only heir to an earl's enormous fortune and title. But there's a catch! In order to get it, he must convince the snooty, aristocratic executors that he can become a proper gentleman - and he must give up his girl. There's no more wonderful reason to sing and dance than the love between a guy and his girl! Me and My Girl was a hit of the 1987 Broadway season and a winner of three Tony awards!

BEST & TIMES

“What we have once enjoyed we can never lose...
all that we love
deeply becomes a part of us
Eden Heller”

Reflecting on the four years that have passed
How much we've grown from first year to last.

Freshman year we were filled with such doubts
But finally after time, we figured it all out.

The friends that we've made, the way the teachers cared
The lessons we were taught, all the time we've shared.

Taking a deep breath, we opened the door
Wanting and expecting to learn so much more.

These four years were hard, put through test after test
But the hardest one of all, no one could have guessed

In the time we spent here, we've lost so much
People we know and love, we felt so out of touch.

But you told us to be brave, you told us to be strong
You told us it'll get better, even though it was so wrong.

But they'll be in our hearts forever and so much longer,
And we knew it was that, that made us stronger.

You helped lessen the pain but you never let us forget.
Made us want more in life so we'd have no regrets.

Lesson after lesson, and year after year
Everything we went through from laughter to tears

Every door we opened, every trial we passed
Every moment spent like it could be our last.

So take what you know, and remember everyone
Take your memories and remember the fun.

Never forget your friends, or the people you met.
Everything that you did and didn't do yet.

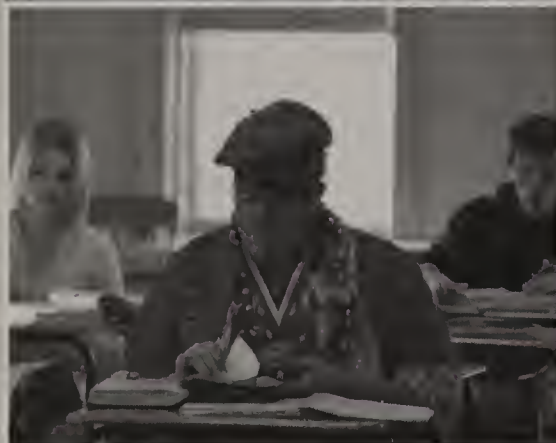

The years spent here, all the things you did
Everything you've become starting out as a kid.

Opening the doors that were laid out for you,
Everything and everyone was so new to you.

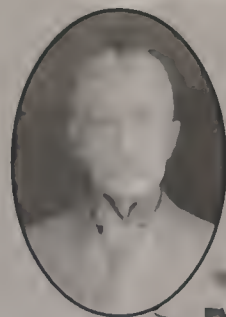

So take a deep breath and open that last door
See what's out there and take time to explore

As we traveled through the years we can finally say we survived.
So congrats and good luck to the Class of 2005!

2005 Huttlestonian Staff

Walking through the door freshman year, graduation was probably one of the farthest thoughts from our minds. Where's my locker? How will I ever understand this schedule? What about the new people I'm going to meet? Those were the real questions racing through our thoughts. Four years later, everyone has figured out where their locker is, even though nobody has been able to figure out the schedule. We have met new people, started new friendships, and rekindled old ones. As a class, we've shared laughs and hugs, trials and tears, victories and failures. These experiences have bonded us together as the proud members of the Fairhaven High School Class of 2005. May we never forget the memories we've made here. May we always cherish the friendships and experiences that colored our high school years. Now, as we go our separate ways, wondering if we'll get along with our roommates or succeed in the real world, we look back on high school and our times spent as students here. Pictures will forever serve as frozen pieces of time, capturing the moments that mean the most to us. Your 2005 yearbook staff hopes that this year's Huttlestonian will serve as a timeless reminder of these, the best years of our lives.

In Loving Memory

Robby Thatcher
August 23, 1985
November 28, 2003

The night gone silent now with death
Our heads bowed down, you laid to rest
Our cries were heard from far away
Goodbye, we'll miss you everyday
And now you're gone, you left us here
We're all alone, we drown in fear
Fear for loss, now life is short
And you're not here, you're gone

Your final farewell, we say goodbye
We sit around, we wonder why?
You had to go so young and
A tragic night to end your life
Goodbye!
Goodbye!

We lost our friend, we lost a chum
You had to go, our world is gone
And we will miss you still Miss you still
Goodbye!

Carol Kaner, "la senora" as she is affectionately known, made a tremendous impact on everyone who knew her. She was the consummate teacher always demanding the best from each and every student. Her enthusiasm for languages and cultures was contagious and she ardently promoted exchanges to France, Spain and Japan. Her devotion to her family and her vocation was remarkable. She loved to travel, meeting and maintaining contact with people from all over the world, and she took great pride in encouraging her students to continue studying foreign languages. Carol will always be admired and remembered for her sense of humor and her positive outlook on life. She was an exceptional organizer and "delegator" in all she tackled and this was especially evident as she faced the medical challenges of ALS. She never wavered in her determination to live life to the fullest and to continue doing what she loved best: teaching.

A teacher of life's lessons,
though still so young yourself.
How did you know what was to come and yet you'd never tell.
You lived and loved and laughed each day, as if it was your last.
You knew the difference between important things and things to just let pass.

It taught me how I want to be, the person to become.
You were open and accepting of each and everyone.
I strive to see life just one day as you did through your eyes.
To laugh and play and spread the joy through loving thoughts and cheers
No one will ever live life more than you in thirteen years.
I am so proud to have known you Matty; you and I shared the same soul
I hold your memories close at heart,
It helps to patch the gapping hole.

Written by Katy Oliveira

This poems saposed to be about you, so where do I start
Maby with your beauty, or maby with your heart
Maby with your smilz that lit up the room or maby why I cant understand why you left so soon Maby about how smart you were and what you could have done or Maby about the great person I watched you become Maby I'll talk about how just a poems not enough because maby words cant say how we love you so much Maby I'll talk about how it was love at first sight
Or maby I'll talk about how I still try to call you at night
Maby I'll talk about how you changed my whole life or maby how we cry, because of one night
Maby about how you talked or maby how you dressed and all the girls copied you, because maby you're the best Maby I'll talk about how I could trust you not to lie
Or maby about how bad I wish I could have said bye
Or maby I could go on w/this I'll keep saying maby
But hopefully this will give closure, so Goodbye I love you baby

We little knew that morning that God was going to call your name.
In life we loved you dearly; in death we do the same.
It broke our hearts to lose you; you did not go alone: for part of us went with you the day God called you home.
You left us peaceful memories your love is still our guide,
and though we cannot see you, you are always at our side.
Our family chain is broken and nothing seems the same,
but as God calls us one by one the chain will link again.

"I have the right cast, the right venue and we are having a good time. We found the perfect audience-
pleasing piece."
